

SATURDAY
2-4 PM

ALLAN KLUBER

Booth #11

“Further Developments in Horizontally Layered Colored Clay”

A trip to Southern Utah inspired me to develop a new way of working with clay that is similar to geologic processes. After all, ceramics is geology, just smaller and faster. This process layers colored clay like sedimentary rock and then alters it as with faulting and other disruptions. Development continues and the demonstration will go through the process from it's inception up to current discoveries.